and background. Please do not call.

Last fall there was a successful recall action against a county supervisor. At that time, these voters of Sausalito believed in the right of recall and exercised this basic right of the people to maintain a representative government: Councilman MICHAEL HARRIS signed a recall petition;

JAN PAUL DYK (now a candidate for city councilman) circulated a recall petition and secured approximately 60 signatures favoring recall; PAUL MICOU (now a candidate for city councilman) signed a petition favoring

SERGE TRUBACH (now a candidate for city councilman) signed a petition favor-

SHEILA EHRLICH (wife of Philip S. Ehrlich, Jr., mayor of city of Sausalito) signed a petition favoring recall;

BARBARA HARRIS (wife of councilman Michael Harris) circulated a recall petition favoring recall. At that time, recall petitions favoring recall were circulated by and signed by these voters and taxpavers: Ian Paul Dyk, Dorothy Cousins, Helen Kerr, Barbara Harris, George Hoffman,

Edith Kodmur, Lisa Finney, Robert Walker and others. At that time, recall petitions favoring recall were also signed by these prominent

M. Justin Herman, Charles E. Finney and Carl W. Spring.

On January 24th, "Today's Editorial" of the Independent-Journal said in part . . . In Sausalito, Mayor Philip S. Ehrlich, Jr., and Councilman Michael Harris are targets for a recall action : . . The recall is valid under the State Constitution, to safeguard good government by definitely determining the will of the majority affected. Provided sufficient verified signatures are obtained, it is mandatory for the governmental unit to hold such an election. "We have no objection to use of the recall when officials and their stands on issues are of real importance. In the case of significant issues, the recall reminds officials that they are representatives of the people, not dictators. And a recall can clarify the views of affected voters..."

Today, in Sausalito, the will of the majority voters must once again be determined. Recall petitions are being circulated in every neighborhood, and have been signed by many registered voters. You too may wish to sign a recall petition to place this matter before the voters to maintain a representative government in Sausalito.

the Interior was created by act of Congress. In 1911, Robert Perry received a decoration and the thanks of the Congress for his expedition to the North Pole in 1909. In 1918, peace was signed by

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

TODAY'S EDITORIAL

At Last, A Compelling New 'Image'-Col. John Glenn

Since advertising and public relations devised the term "image" to personify the cause or product they were promoting, it has become threadbare, misused and usually obfuscating. But in recent days, the United States-and most of the world—has been given a new "image" that can be a stalwart bulwark in sustaining the highest ideals.

This is no warbling young singer, no fast-draw video gunman, no young man who rises in stature by beating down an opponent to get a world's boxing title. He is not young by present employment standards-in fact, he'd be considered too old, had he been applying for a job.

Lt. Col. John H. Glenn, Jr., is a balding man of 40, father of two teen-agers. Entering the Marine Corps from a small Ohio town, he served with outstanding distinction as a combat pilot in World War II and the Korean conflict. Those periods, in the viewpoint of youngsters, date almost back to the Civil War

But he wasn't an old, be-medalled veteran, staying in uniform just to get retirement. His current record as a pilot, a test pilot and a man who can calmly and quickly think resulted in his selection as one of the seven flyers to man American craft in astronautical experiments and flights.

Like the others, Glenn has been leading an almost cloistered life since then; dedicated to furtherance of the space program and conditioning himself for the dangerous ordeal. He met all suggestions of sympathy with a cheerful, forceful statement: "We've got to do it." He stoically received repeated last minute announcements that there must be

The Yo-Yo Madness

Yo-yo fever has struck Marin's peanut butter set. It is a benign sort of madness fostered by "World Champion" yoyo twirlers who appear on children's TV shows to promote their sale.

For years the fine art and delicate science of yo-yo has languished in our country. It has lurked in the shadow of more athletic sports, such as hula hoop spinning and trampoline jumping. Now another postponement.

The whole world followed Col. Glenn in breathless intensity as he finally made a triple orbit of the earth. Hearts sank as word was broadcast of seeming dangers arising - and rose to new heigths of admiration as Glenn calmly reported that he had taken over the controls, and as he conquered each crisis.

When adulation came in from all over the world after triumphant completion of his flight-and American space prestige made tremendous advances-Glenn was perhaps the calmest person in the world. Technical reports and Congressional talks were a necessity. Those parades were not his idea.

There were not the usual statements of "I prayed, and God helped me." His views regarding religion came out only in response to Congressional questioning:

"I cannot say that while in orbit I sat there and prayed. I was pretty busy . . . Religion should not be of the fire engine type; a man should not call on faith only in emergency, then put God back in the woodwork . . . We should live all of our lives every day as though that were going to be the last day. I fall so far short of this that it is pitiful, but come back and keep trying the next day . . . God will be wherever we go . . . "

Aside from his astounding success in Independent-Journal: the face of mechanical difficulties while hurtling through space, Col. Glenn has given us a model of courage and an abiding faith in his Maker. Despite his modesty, he is an "image" of normal living that will long endure—to our profit if we try to raise ourselves to equal it.

it appears a great yo-yo revival is with

When we were young and tender more years than we care to remember -yo-yos were a new fad. No self-respecting kid would be caught dead without one any more than he would have missed "The Air Adventures Of Jimmy Allen" on the radio.

A youngster with a yo-yo has the world on a string. We envy him a little

Nickles For National Strenath

Independent-Journal:

Some weeks ago a letter was published in your newspaper requesting that "Pennies for Peace" letters be sent to President Kennedy, among others urging disarmament (under what agreements?) and no nuclear testing (at what price?).

Shortly thereafter some of us got together and sent President Kennedy a letter which expressed our point of viewquite a different one - we called it "Nickels for National Strength."

A copy of this letter with accompanying signatures was forwarded to your newspaper, but it was never published.

Today as I read my newspaper with all the talk of a new "summit" in the offing and see that the purpose of that "summit" clearly coincides with the "Pennies for Peace" objectives, I could not help but wonder why our side of the argument could not get any publication when publicity for these "pacifist" groups seems so abundant. So in hopes that you will recognize that there are "peacemakers" who are show-

REMEMBER WHEN

10 YEARS AGO

Demolition of the College of Marin's old Butler art barn, termed "the one material piece of tradition that binds us to our past," was decided on by district trustees who found the building structurally unsafe and likely to be costly to repair.

20 YEARS AGO

Marin County fishermen who had been unable to put boats out since declaration of war were allowed to resume fishing outside the Golden Gate under various restrictions, which among other things prescribed full speed in going to and from fishing grounds, and use of designated channels.

Sunken Barge Traded For Sand As Pepper-Eating Dogs Appear

along in Marin. The rains have knocked thousands of yellow peanut-blossoms off the acacias, the humming birds have reappeared, and Mondays keep slipping into Tuesdays.

In Sausalito a lot of people were glad to hear that the old railroad barge, so many months on underwater Valley Street, has been moved to Oakland. The two Navy tow targets are still sunk nearby however.

In exchange, Oakland and Alameda are contributing 20,-000 yards of sand, which A. G. Schoonmaker Co. Inc., is to pour on its own land. The sand, according to Michael Harris, is from Webster Street Tube, being bored between Alameda and Oakland. The sand is not to fill underwater Mono Street, where a few arks make their home.

Firemen always know funny stories. Fireman Frank Buscher of Tiburon says the other day a Belvedere volunteer fireman, Bill McLean Jr. was driving his truck loaded with Lucky Lager beer when he found a fire at 845 Tiburon Boulevard. It was a car

"I did the first thing I thought of," said McLean. "I took three bottles of beer. poured them over the fire and put it out." That's using the old American bean, we said.

THINGS KEEP bouncing tor Preston L. Canfield has a new description in defining property lines - leaps and bounds. Normally, property lines are described in "metes and bounds" but in a particular hilly section of a new subdivision, Canfield humorously called it the former.

He also reported that he found on Mrs. Charlotte Christiansen's tentative planning commission agenda the other day the land area called "Unenchanted Knolls."

THE WORLD IS small and Albert A. La Boube, a Tamalpais Valley oldtimer knows it. The other day he was sitting on the bench at the Mill Valley bus depot watching the world go by when he met another "old ducker" about his age. "What do you think about the weather?" La Boube asked. This worked into the man asking whether La Boube was a native Californian.

Then La Boube found out he had worked with his newfound friend, Jim Rogers, more than 20 years ago in a wholesale grocer's outfit on Second and Olive streets in St. Louis, Mo.

The only two dogs we know who eat green peppers, dropped by the office the other day. They are Mack and Sandy, Scottish terriers owned by Chet and Kathy Howlett.

The Scotties also eat dog biscuits, we are told; and Sandy is Mack's great aunt. Easy to train, Mack and Sandy sat up on the sidewalk and were given a biscuit. You just don't carry green peppers around for rewards. We had a short talk and then they got into their convertible with red seats and went on their way,

Necessity For Preservation Spurs Astounding Space Development

this kind of competition, where there are no exclusive secrets and where the expertness is for all practical purposes equal, each side makes the necessary effort only when challenged by the success of the other. That seems to be the story of the Soviet-American rivalry in space during the past 15 years.

In a most striking way the stimulus to act has not come from ideology, national character, or scientific curiosity and adventure. It has come from a challenge to equal and surpass the successes of the other, and necessity has been the mother of invention and progress.

IT SEEMS PLAIN enough that the Soviet Union's lead has been, and still is, due to the power of its rockets. Col. Glenn's capsule was only about one-quarter of the weight of Gagarin's and Titov's, and his rocket had less than half the trust of theirs. Why? Not because the Soviet engineers know something about rockets that our engineers do not know, but because in the late '40's we were able to encircle the Soviet Union in order to contain it with manned bombers carrying nuclear weapons. We did not then feel that we needed big rockets.

But the Soviet Union felt ficient as the bigger ones.

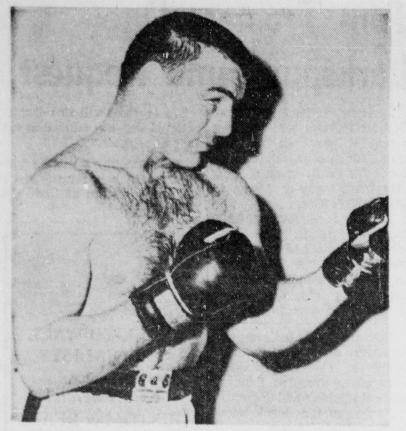

"A SPELL has been brok- challenged. It could not enen," says a German newspap- circle the United States with er, the Frankfurter Allge- manned bombers and so, unmeine Zeitung. And as nuclear weapons were at that time much bigger and heavier than they are now, Soviet rockets were der." Col. Glenn's triumphant made big enough to carry the weapons.

Until about 1957, when the It has also shown that in first Sputnik went into orbit, we did not feel challenged by these big rockets. There was no particular reason to think that the Soviet Union had enough accurate rockets and enough nuclear weapons. We still had armed bombers and we did not yet have smaller nuclear weapons which our smaller rockets could carry.

> AFTER SPUTNIK, we began to feel challenged, and to respond, although at first slowly. A year later, we adopted Project Mercury, a three-year program which has produced the flights of Shepard and Grissom and the orbital flight of Glenn.

There is reason to suppose that in meeting the Soviet challenge we have in certain ways forged ahead of the Soviets. For under the prod of our necessity we have developed to a high point the making of small and light mechanisms. When we do have big rockets, this would enable us to pack them with a big payload of scientific in-

SOUTH AMERICA

Once I went to South America because I had never been there. I read all the books about Black Magic and Cariocas and Drake and Morgan. Later all the history sharks wrote me letters showing me how wrong I was and how I got my dates mixed up. The only reason I mention this is because it has all been corrected now. I am pretty proud of myself.

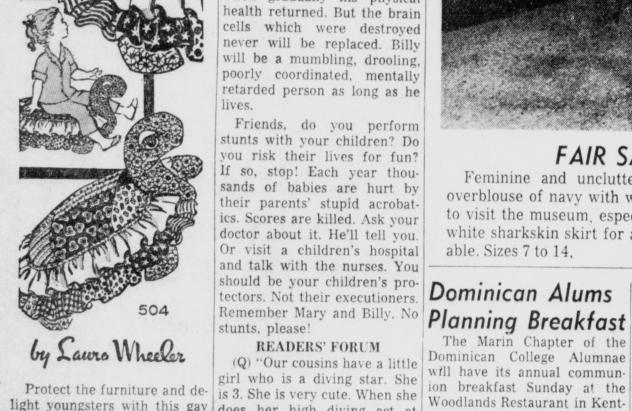

I have a South America assignment this fall. I've found traveling alone is no bed of roses and so I thought you'd like to join me. To look over my shoulder. You can answer all the letters from people correcting my history.

I hope you'll come along.
